

JAP IS FOXY IN HIS MOVES

Keeps the Russians Entirely at Sea as to Direct Results.

CAPTURES TWO CITIES WITH EASE

Maneuvers His Armies in Such a Manner They Can Attack From All Sides at Once--No Let-Up in the Fighting.

[Special by Scripps-Mellae.]
Shan Hai Kwan, July 15.—Yinkow and New Chwang are in the hands of the Japanese and were taken with little or no resistance. The full force of the army under Gen. Oku is now directed against Tacheli Kiao, where the Russians are strongly entrenched, and are making a hard fight. There are, it is said, not less than 60,000 Japanese in the column which is attacking Tacheli Kiao, and there are nearly as many more within supporting distance. It is believed that the entire corps is there. Many of the Russian troops have gone north to Hai Cheng, which is threatened by another strong Japanese column. Refugees from the north say the general impression is that Kuropatkin has decided to make a stand at Hai Cheng. He has received heavy reinforcements and has between Mukden and Tacheli Kiao nearly 200,000 troops.

Moving Into Port Arthur

Che Foo, July 15.—The Japanese have taken the last of the chain of forts on the east of the railroad into Port Arthur, and their guns now dominate almost all of the port and the inner defenses. This is the latest news brought here by Chinese from the beleaguered fortress.

It is also reported by them that the Japanese are preparing to assault the Russian position on the Ngantse hill, which will, if the move is successful, make the other forts outside the defenses untenable and will make it almost impossible for the Russian garrison to hold out under the sweep of the Japanese artillery. With these batteries in position served with the speed and accuracy which have up to this time characterized the Japanese gunners, the Russian artillery in Port Arthur will be practically powerless to stop the Japanese assaulting columns when the attack is made.

Fall of Port Arthur is Near

It is generally believed among military men here that the fall of Port Arthur is close at hand. For several days there have been rumors that the Japanese already have taken the post, but there is no reason to believe the end has yet come.

Togo is Keeping a closer watch than ever on the harbor's mouth, and his full force of fighting ships are kept close at hand in preparation for the final effort of the Russian fleet to escape, which cannot much longer be delayed.

Red Sea Battle Probable

Tokio, July 15.—A sea battle in the Red sea is not an impossibility in the near future. The Japanese naval office has, it is said on good authority, despatched a couple of fast and powerful cruisers to look after the two vessels of the Russian volunteer fleet which recently passed the Dardanelles, and have since been reported to be holding up and searching British ships for contraband of war. The officials deny that any cruisers have been detached for this purpose, but there is reason to believe the report is correct.

Hear Yinkow Has Fallen

News reached here today of the capture of Yinkow, the seaport of New Chwang and of minor victories by the armies of Iku and Kuroki. While no news of a general battle has been received it is regarded as probable that the two opposing armies may already be engaged in the death grapple.

News of importance is looked for also from Port Arthur in a few days. Marshal Oyama, with Gen. Kodama and his staff, are due in front of the fortress in a very short time and it is the belief that only their presence is awaited to begin the final assault, but it has no official countenance, and is not generally believed. Late reports from Port Arthur say nothing of the heavy loss to the Japanese investing army reported from St. Petersburg.

A rumor was current here today of a fight with the Vladivostok squadron still believe it.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—When the Official Gazette yesterday afternoon published a special edition stating that Viceroy Alexeff had informed the general staff here that 30,000 Japanese had fallen in an attack upon Port Arthur, the people who dismissed such news as being false when announced from irresponsible sources, finally believed it. Great was the feeling of pleasure that at last a victory to Russian arms could be announced. It appears now that the whole thing was a miserable hoax on the part of the Japanese, suggested in order to mislead Gen. Kuropatkin and to cause him to advance.

Mortification and Disgust

The consequent mortification, and disgust felt today has no limits. To make matters worse, according to the latest dispatches, Gen. Oku is seriously threatening New Chwang with a large force, while Field Marshal Oyama has taken direction of the investing forces at Port Arthur and the best ship in the Russian navy in the far east, the Novik, is damaged. It is now realized that the rainy season as a deterrent to active operations is going to be disregarded by the Japanese.

Gloomy Outlook for Russia

Military experts here today fully realize the enormous difficulties of the job that Russia has in hand. One of the principal experts writes: "Although firmly convinced of our ultimate success, the job is a difficult one. There is no use attempting to conceal the fact that mobilizing has been slow, while a correspondent at Tacheli Kiao telegraphs that our troops are sleeping in marshy lands excellent for growing rice, but poor for soldiers."

Gen. Kuroki, according to latest dispatches, does not propose marching, but takes measures to prevent the Russian forces on the north from doing so.

Russians in Happy Mood

St. Petersburg, July 15.—The people of St. Petersburg retired last night in a happy frame of mind. The absence of a dispatch from Lieut. Gen. Stoessel, commander of the military forces at Port Arthur, regarding the reported disaster to the Japanese last Sunday night is generally attributed to the delay in communicating official news, owing to the absence of the emperor.

Private dispatches received at St. Petersburg from Russian sources in the far east confirm the reports from Mukden and Che Foo. According to a usually reliable source the Japanese losses were 2,800, and the Russian losses 1,800.

No Dampen on Enthusiasm

The city remains in a ferment of excitement and extras are eagerly bought up in the hope of finding the long expected dispatch from Gen. Stoessel.

It was only late last night that a dispatch arrived which had it become generally known, would have tended to dampen the enthusiasm. This was a dispatch from Tacheli Kiao communicating an undated dispatch from Port Arthur, received there July 13. It did not mention the assault or the repulse, but it is quite possible that the dispatch was sent from Port Arthur earlier than July 10, so that it cannot be fairly regarded as contradictory evidence.

Report a Battle

St. Petersburg, July 15.—It is reported a battle is now being fought at Hsin H Chou.

Japs Keep up Their Advance

St. Petersburg, July 15.—A telegram from Lieutenant General Sakharoff noted the continued Japanese advance on Ta-Tche-Kiao and continues fighting along the Shu-Yen roads converging on Tang-Chi, ten miles southeast of Ta-Tche-Kiao. The Russian outposts apparently were not offering serious resistance on either of the Shu-Yen roads, or along the line of Gen. Oku's advance. There may be a slight collision at Tang-Chi, where Gen. Kuropatkin probably has stationed his left wing rear guard. The Japanese are utilizing Kal-Chou to land supplies.

General Sakharoff also reports the appearances of General Kuroki's outposts considerably south of Liao-Yang. This is an indication of a general flanking movement on Hai Cheng.

Outposts Fall Back

The Japanese northern outposts are falling back on Salamatso, probably due to pressure on the part of General Remenkampff.

Private dispatches received in St. Petersburg from Russian sources in the far east confirm the reports from Mukden and Chefoo. According to a usually reliable source the Japanese losses were 2,800 and the Russian losses 1,800.

A dispatch from Ta-Tche-Kiao communicating an undated dispatch from Port Arthur did not mention the assault or the repulse, but it is possible that the dispatch was sent from Port Arthur earlier than July 10.

The retreating in the Russian capital is increased by a foreign dispatch confirming the Japanese reverse. The question is eagerly asked whether the Russians took advantage of the Japanese discomfiture to follow up the blow and inflict a crushing defeat, with possibly the capture of the siege guns.

The news that the Vladivostok cruisers and torpedo-boats were out again filled the Russian cup of joy to overflowing.

Praises Kourapatkin

The Russian retreat from Yinkow and perhaps from Ta-Tche-Kiao does not weigh in the balance. People who had begun to grumble at General Kourapatkin are inclined under the influence of the news from Port Arthur to take the opposite view, which is also voiced by a trained military expert, who says the retreat from Kal-Chou was a masterpiece in tactics.

This expert sees in Kourapatkin's strategy the flawless carrying out of military science, a departure from which would have precipitated disaster. In this light General Baron Stakelberg's march appears to have been a stroke of genius, since he kept in contact with the enemy, prevented a junction of the Japanese armies and generally retarded the Japanese plans both in the north and south of the Liao-Tung peninsula.

Say Kourapatkin Bluffed Japs

The transfer of General Kourapatkin's staff to Ta-Tche-Kiao and the appearance of great activity there bluffed the Japanese into devoting all their attention to that quarter, leaving the more valuable line from Liao-Yang to Mukden alone.

Even if there be no battle at Ta-Tche-Kiao or Hatching the Russians are now looking forward with entire confidence to the concentration of General Kourapatkin's forces around Liao-Yang, which will mark the successful termination of the first stage of his campaign.

MURDERS ROUSE MEMPHIS PEOPLE

CHARGE CARNIVAL OF CRIME

Citizens Assent Present City Government is Incapable of Holding the Reins of Justice and Demand Resignations From Mayor and Others.

Memphis, Tenn., July 15.—As an aftermath to the double murder Monday night, in which Deputy Sheriff McDermott and Mitchell lost their lives during their raid of a peep gambling house in the tenderloin district, a monster mass meeting was held Thursday night, at which addresses were made by prominent citizens and resolutions passed which ask for the resignations of Mayor Williams, Vice Mayor Henderson and Chief of Police Mason.

Five thousand people crowded the Lyceum theater from pit to dome, and a like number, finding themselves unable to gain admittance, assembled in a body in the public square in the heart of the city, where they were addressed by United States Senator Carmack and others in a plea to keep within the bounds of peace.

Ask City Officers to Quit. In the speeches it was charged that a continued carnival of crime had been taking place in Memphis and that the present government had demonstrated that it was incapable of holding the reins of justice. The committee of public safety appointed a committee of 1,000 persons, which will wait on the mayor and associates with the resolutions, asking for their vacation of office.

Friends of Haggerty, Honan, Hartley, Deggs and Keene, the quintet alleged to have been associated with the operation of the peep game, and who are imprisoned in the county jail on the charge of murdering the deputy sheriffs, were active all day, and succeeded in organizing to protect them from any possible attack from the excited populace that attended the mass meeting. With rifles the prisoners' friends volunteered their services to the jailer, and a band of fifty or more patrolled the region within five blocks' radius of the bastille.

Charges Three With Murders. At the coroner's inquest over the bodies of the murdered deputies the responsibility was fixed on George Honan, Harry Hartley and George Keene.

An incident which occurred at the funeral of McDermott caused widespread excitement and for a time it looked as though a body of determined men would march on the jail to take the law in their own hands. Rev. Father Murphy conducted the funeral services in the presence of hundreds of friends of the dead deputy. The funeral cortege was nearly a mile in length and the cemetery was crowded with friends. The souls of Mrs. McDermott, the widowed bride of but a few weeks, could be heard, and at the conclusion of the obsequies Miss Davis, a sister of Mrs. McDermott, addressing one of the pallbearers, said she wished a mob would form and lynch George Honan. This caused the crowd to thirst for vengeance.

The body of Deputy Houston Mitchell was sent to his former home at Shannon, Miss., for interment.

DOUBLE GUARD NEAR THE YARDS

STRIKERS REQUESTED TO BE QUIET

Another Conference Is in Progress Between Packers and the Workers This Afternoon--General Strike Talked.

Chicago, July 15.—As a result of the riot in the stock yards last night the police were redoubled in the district this morning. The union officials made tours among the strikers this morning pleading for quiet and order. President Donnelly and aids met this morning to draw up a reply to the last proposal of the packers looking to arbitration. The second joint conference is to be held today. It is predicted in case some agreement is not reached by night a general strike of all mechanical trades in the yards will come tomorrow.

Chicago, July 15.—After a five hours' conference yesterday afternoon, representatives of the packers and butcher workmen adjourned without having agreed on terms of settlement of the packing strike. When the conference broke up at 7 o'clock last night the strike leaders took with them a proposition submitted by the packers and promised to give an answer to it today.

The answer, it is declared, will be a rejection of the offer, the chief hitch being over the reinstatement of the men who went on strike. The packers stated they would keep all men now in their employ and reinstatement all who went out as fast as possible, giving preference in the order in which the old men filed applications.

May Be Sympathetic Strike.

While the peace negotiations are under way to settle the strike of butchers, another cloud appears on the horizon. The Packing Trades' central body, composed of all mechanics in the yard, have decided to join in a sympathetic strike unless the trouble is settled by Saturday night. A referendum vote is now being taken on the question, and reports so far show that the sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of a sympathetic walkout. A special meeting of the Packing Trades' central body will be held to officially order the strike.

Men Define Peace Terms.

When the conference opened President Donnelly set forth the conditions under which the men would accept arbitration and call the strike off. The peace terms he offered are as follows:

"That all employees who left their positions by reason of the strike notice of July 12 be re-employed within three days and placed in their old positions, this to be carried out without prejudice or discrimination.

"That the packing companies agree to pay the rate of wages which prevailed prior to the expiration of the last agreement pending arbitration.

"The arbitrators shall be constituted as follows: One representative of the packing companies, one representative of the A. M. C. and B. W. of N. A., these two to select a third.

INDIANS ALLEGE LAND BELONGS TO ROSEBUDS

State of South Dakota Is Said to Have Taken Up 6,600 Acres in Excess of Its Share.

Bonesteel, S. D., July 15.—Charging the state of South Dakota with attempting to take 6,600 acres of school lands in the Rosebud reservation in excess of that to which the state is entitled, the Indians of the reservation have sent a telegram to President Roosevelt protesting against this action. At the rate of $4 an acre, which the Indians could receive if the lands were taken by homestead settlement, the disputed territory is worth $26,000. As school lands the Indians will receive only half this amount. In addition, the homesteaders will be deprived of over 6,000 acres, which they might otherwise take up.

It is the purpose of Commissioner of Lands and Education Bach to sell these school lands for town site purposes on Aug. 27. The Indians have engaged the services of J. W. Lindsay of Teddes, one of the best-known land attorneys in the Northwest, to prosecute their case, and it promises to upset all the well-laid town-site plans that have been made.

member. The two first named shall meet within forty-eight hours after the resumption of work, proceed to elect the third member, and shall meet daily for that purpose until this duty has been completed.

"When the third member has been selected, the three shall meet daily, unless adjournment be had by unanimous consent, until a final conclusion has been reached and the award made. The three arbitrators shall be practical packing-house men.

Members Must Decide.

"Upon the agreement of the above by the packing companies and the representatives of the A. M. C. and B. W. of N. A., the latter will submit the same to the membership, with a favorable recommendation for its acceptance, and, if approved, will, within twenty-four hours, declare the strike at an end and work to be resumed.

"That the wage scale and working conditions in the agreement proposed by the A. M. C. and B. W. of N. A. be submitted to arbitration, and the award in wages made by the arbitrators to take effect from the time of the resumption of work, but no award shall be made involving a reduction in wages."

After receiving the proposition the packers retired to an adjoining office and held a consultation among themselves, while the representatives of the men conferred alone.

After a time they presented the following answer: "In reply to yours of July 13, and your explanation of what you are willing to arbitrate, we cannot accept the same. We are willing to arbitrate the whole matter covering wages and working conditions of all employees out on strike, you having the privilege of bringing before the arbitrators for decision any question of wages or conditions or any grievance you may think you have, we to have like privilege, and both to abide by the decision of the arbitrators.

"We will retain all now at work, and will re-employ all the men now out as fast as possible, giving preference in the order of application for work, employees to turn to work at the wages received when going on strike pending the decision of the arbitrators."

This proposition, which was made in writing, was signed by the seven representatives of the packing companies, and President Donnelly agreed to submit the matter to the members of the executive board.

President Donnelly said after the conference, that he would never accept the terms offered as they applied to the reinstatement of the strikers. He said the men would have to be placed in their former positions, within three days, as had been proposed, or they would stay out.

YOUNG LOVERS OUTWIT PARENTS AND MARRY

Walk Many Miles Across Country Before They Secured a Magistrate to Perform Ceremony.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 15.—Rose Tobey and Charles Shrock loved each other, but the girl's parents objected, because Rose is but 17 and Shrock only 20. To keep them apart the girl's father sent her to her brother's farm three miles south of Galesburg. She talked of eloping and he took away her walking skirt and waist, leaving only her kimono and undershirt. Shrock went to the place. She jumped from a window and joined him. Near the house they met her father, but the girl dodged into the bushes and he did not see her. They changed their course and saw him from behind a stone wall five minutes later ride furiously in pursuit.

The couple walked twenty miles across the country to get a license at Kalamazoo, but could not get married. They came here where Justice Bidwell united them. In the meantime the parents thought the girl had killed herself. They have forgiven her.

STATE EXPENSES ARE ENORMOUS

INCREASE OF THIRTY-ONE PER CENT SHOWN.

GAME WARDENS COME HIGH

Disbursements for This Branch of the Service More Than the Receipts.

Figures gleaned from an advance copy of the annual statement of receipts and disbursements of various state funds during the fiscal year ending June 30 last show a large increase in state expenditures since the La Follette administration came into power in 1901, appear in a Milwaukee paper. The figures are so large as to be almost beyond belief. They show, in brief, that the expenditures of the state have increased 31 per cent in the last four years.

The total disbursements last year were $1,471,385, 75 larger than they were four years ago, while the total receipts due to increased taxes from railroad and insurance companies and similar sources have grown nearly a million and a half, the expenditures have more than kept pace with such tremendous growth.

Record Is Unprecedented
The present "reform" administration has made a record in extravagance unparalleled in the history of the state. This statement is fully borne out by the fiscal figures for the last four years. Following is a comparison of total receipts and disbursements of all funds during the last four years:

	Total receipts of all funds.	Total disbursements of all funds.
1901	$1,556,122.61	$5,218,096.08
1902	5,159,329.58	5,287,016.28
1903	6,861,995.70	6,901,555.08
1904	6,565,299.51	6,819,582.83

It should be noted that the figures given for 1902 are for nine months only, as the legislature changed the close of the fiscal year from September 30 to June 30, and in the readjustment the short year came in 1902.

General Fund Disbursements
While the reckless extravagance of the present administration is partly shown by a comparison of total receipts and disbursements of all the funds during the last four years, it is more strongly brought out in a comparison of receipts and disbursements of the general fund during that period. All administrative and extraordinary expenses come out of the general fund. The other funds are largely of a trust nature, created for education and other special purposes. The disbursements from the general fund during the last four years were as follows: 1901, $2,882,658.58; 1902, (nine months), $2,271,958.30; 1903, $3,048,202.04; 1904, $3,751,055.18.

It will be noted that the increase last year over four years ago was $848,394.60, or about 55 per cent. The balance in this fund on June 30, 1904, was $1,019,276.74, as against $455,874.61 on June 30 last.

Game Wardens Get $108,000
During the last year about $108,000 was distributed among the game wardens and all inspectors of the state, the men who are doing the street corner political talking for the state administration and who are now organizing political clubs in its interests. Last year the disbursements to game wardens amounted to $55,599.03 and to all inspectors $22,000. On June 30 last there was a balance of $16,622.55 in the game warden fund. The small balance in the oil inspection fund on that date was, under the statistics, covered into the general fund of the state treasury. The disbursements from the game warden fund exceeded the receipts by $578.19. So far as known, this is the only time since the game warden's department was reorganized that the disbursements have exceeded the receipts.

In 1901 the receipts of the game warden fund were $41,051.88 and the disbursements $35,995.47. In 1902 the receipts were $55,389.86 and the disbursements $47,074.65. In 1903 the receipts were about $73,000 and the disbursements slightly less.

Repairs on Capitol to Cost $75,000
Another interesting feature of the annual statement just compiled is that up to June 30 last $33,307.42 had been paid for repairs on the fire damaged statehouse. It is probable that a number of bills for materials furnished for the work had not been presented at that date and that most of the money went to favored laborers of Madison, judging from the amount of money already expended, the repairs will cost about $75,000. This does not include the enormous sums being spent for equipment and supplies to replace those destroyed in the different departments. With the exception of those in the south wing, the repairs to the capitol building are only of a temporary nature.

No matter how much money is spent on the present structure, it is generally believed that a new capitol will have to be built. Indeed, the capitol improvement commission has since the fire been proceeding upon that theory. Hence the large expenditure of money on the damaged building is, it would seem, principally for political purposes.

NEW BATHS WILL BE UNSURPASSED
Eight Marble Showers Being Installed by Y. M. C. A., Makes Appointments Equal to Milwaukee Building.

Improvements under way at the Y. M. C. A. building will be completed at a cost of $1,000. The installation of eight new marble shower baths and two bath-tubs constitute the principal expense, though the walls on all three floors are to be redecorated. The new baths will not be surpassed even by those of the central association of Milwaukee.

STRANGE PACKAGE FROM THE INDIES

Wonderful Reptile Arrives in Janesville Too Late for the Fourth.

Even far away India has heard of the Nonesuch Bros. circus. Even Lord Curzon has read of the wonders which Nonesuch has gathered together. This morning a good sized box sealed with the royal seal of India, a royal R, arrived at Col. Nonesuch, care of the People's Drug Co., Janesville, Wis., U. S. A. It came via the Suez canal route and contained one of the most deadly reptiles ever captured. This reptile was confined in a large triple-plated glass cage with waters from the sacred river Ganges, and as food several small species of aquatic fish were also confined, evidently intended for the serpent. This wonderful curiosity was opened by Col. Nonesuch and was immediately loaned by him to the proprietors of the Pike for exhibition. The Col. could not name the reptile, but awaits anxiously a letter telling the exact species and food necessary. One authority on such things stated that it was one of the sacred snakes of India worshipped by the natives to such an extent that they threw their children into the rivers for its food. The snake was in excellent condition when the package was opened.

Despondent through illness, Bert Huston, 70 years old, of Newark, O., shot himself through the head at Granville.

Edward Marsh, brakeman on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road working out of Chicago is spending a few days in the city with his family.

A new state roof is being put on at the Chicago & North-Western passenger station.

The Milwaukee train due here from Chicago at 10:30 was thirty five minutes late this morning when it arrived at the St. Paul passenger station.

Some Railway Facts

The gross earnings from the operation of the total of 205,213 miles of railway lines, which is the aggregate single track mileage, were $1,900,846,907, an increase of $171,466,610; operating expenses, $1,257,538,852, an increase of $141,230,105; net earnings, $643,208,055, an increase of $32,176,535; income from other sources than operation, $205,887,480; net income, available for dividends or surplus, $296,276,045.

RUSHING WORK AT BEET FACTORY

The Heavy Iron Structure is Almost Completely in Place Now—A Busy Spot.

Work at the Rock County Sugar Beet company's plant is progressing with all possible haste these days. The workmen have finished putting up the heavy iron structural work on the main building and the concrete stone foundation and brick laying will be commenced in a day or so. The company received several more carloads of machinery yesterday from their Dresden plant. It consisted mostly of machinery and boilers which will be at once installed in the building before the mason work is completed. Already several large boilers and machines have been put in place. The Hayes brothers have finished the work of filling in the stretch of land between the company's plant to the Jackson street bridge with the main line of the Chicago & North-Western road which runs to the Choate-Hollister factory. The section men in charge of Foreman William Kuhlman have the track laid as far as the street car line, near the foot of Eastern avenue. The entire spur track will be finished next week.

A very sheer white Persian lawn is used for this simple and quaint design. The round yoke of the blouse is of Valenciennes insertion, the narrow stripe run together to shape it. To this the blouse is shirred, the fashionable long shoulder being observed and the sleeve set in low on the arm. With this mode the use of a dress shield is imperative, the much smaller arm size bringing both sleeve and waist in closer contact with the flesh. The sleeve is a simple puff with a narrow cuff of lace. The skirt has a plain front panel, the sides and back being cleverly fitted with rows of shirring arranged to simulate a shallow hip yoke. Above the broad-bound hem four rows of the Valenciennes entre deux are inserted, this making a daintily simple finish to the gown.

AMONG THE WORLD'S WORKERS

News Notes From Various Sources of Great Interest to the Workingman.

Charles F. Reichers, former president of the United Garment Workers, who conducted the big clothing strike in 1898 in behalf of the cutters, has been made leader in the present strike.

During the past three months 6 new local unions have been established by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

As the result of fifteen per cent. reduction in their wages the weavers employed at the mills of the Hogg Carpet & Manufacturing company in Stoneville, Mass., have struck and will remain out until the matter is settled.

The Southern Pacific has started to inaugurate vigorous retrenchments. One thousand employees in its shops were discharged. It is understood that a similar policy will be carried out on all of the Harriman lines.

The aggregate wealth of the United Mine Workers is not publicly known, but it is the wealthiest as well as the greatest labor union in the world.

The coal mines of West Virginia give employment to 80 per cent. of the wage earners, and their products form 50 per cent. of the total value of all mineral products.

Labor leaders claim the last census shows 17,000,000 who support themselves by labor, of which 3,000,000 are organized union men.

The United States employed 10,555 men in distributing mail last year. The cost was $63,594,000, in 373 accidents to mail cars 18 clerks were killed and 78 seriously injured.

Since the inception of the State Female Registry Office of New South Wales, 3,081 have obtained employment out of 3,555 persons registered.

Organized labor in Canada is complaining bitterly against the immigration department that is flooding England with glowing descriptions of Canada as the wage-earners' paradise.

The total amount of benefits paid by the Clearmakers' International Union in 1903 was $371,968, while the income from all sources was $751,942.

VETERANS IN A DRESS PARADE

Pleasing Feature Introduced at the Big Picnic at Ho-No-Ne-Gah Park Yesterday.

One of the features of the Grand Army Veterans' picnic at Ho-No-Ne-Gah park yesterday was a dress parade, the first one of which many of the old soldiers had participated since the close of the Civil war. Besides the Posts in the three cities of Janesville, Rockford and Beloit, many others were represented and the attendance was the largest in years. The Women's Relief Corps served a bountiful dinner to which ample justice was done.

Sharon Reporter: The village has been full of rubber stock men the past week, and last evening there was a meeting in K. of P. hall of the local investors, at which the promoters explained fully the rubber industry and the benefits and profits to investors. About $50,000 of local capital is already invested in rubber stock, the plantation being located in Mexico.

PROSPECTS FOR NEW INTERURBAN

BUILDING OF LINE MAY COMMENCE NEXT MONTH.

SURVEY IS ABOUT COMPLETED

And Necessary Franchises Have Been Secured—Undecided on Two Routes.

Present prospects seem to indicate that the actual work of building the electric line from Janesville to Madison, the project of the Southern Wisconsin Interurban Ry. Co., will actually begin many weeks before the snow flies. There is a possibility that the laying of the track may commence as early as August. Civil Engineer Jackson has practically completed the surveys both by the north river route which takes in Milton and Milton Junction and crosses the river a mile east of Indian Ford, and the other course proposed which takes in the village of Fulton. Some of the level stretches of country have not been gone over carefully but little time will be needed for the completion of these details.

Have the Franchises
Both of the proposed routes, neither of which has been definitely decided upon, converge on Edgerton. From thence the line goes to Stoughton, thence along the east shore of Lake Kegonsa where several Janesville people have summer homes; thence along the shore of Monona lake, by the county fair grounds and through the Greenbush addition and South Madison, entering the city through Wingra park over the street railway company's tracks. The franchises have been secured at Stoughton and Edgerton and the way seems clear for the actual construction work.

Will Take a Year
A year's time will probably be consumed in the work of building. The money market is in a better condition than it was several months ago and this may prove a helpful factor in hastening the work.

BELOIT GIRL WAS RELEASED ON BAIL
Hesta Valvig Pleaded Guilty to the Charge of Forgery, and Sentence Was Suspended.

At five o'clock yesterday afternoon Hesta Valvig of Beloit, the fifteen year old girl charged with forgery, was brought into municipal court and entered a plea of guilty. Sentence was suspended and the bail was fixed at $500 which was furnished by a brother. Her attorney is J. W. Bates.

Like Beer To A Prohibitionist,

SAY HEATH & MILLIGAN mixed paint to a painter and hear him talk against it.

AND WHY? It hurts his business—a house painted with lead and oil "as mixed by him" must be repainted in two or three years. If you use Heath & Milligan Mixed Paint it will have to be repainted in five or ten years.

IT COSTS YOU 50c per hundred square feet of surface to paint with Heath & Milligan Mixed Paint, to the lead and oil at present market price it costs 71c for same surface; which is the cheaper?

THE WEAR—Heath & Milligan Mixed Paints will wear from two to five years longer than pure lead and oil "as mixed by your painter." We prove this to you by showing you dozens of houses here in Janesville painted with Heath & Milligan Mixed Paint.

CAN YOU THINK FOR YOURSELF?—Why not investigate? We can positively show you how to save many by using Heath & Milligan Mixed Paint.

VERDICT OF THE PARTY

From the report of the Committee on Credentials to the REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION, which was unanimously adopted by that convention, June 22, 1904.

Your committee report it to be their final judgment that the convention which elected said John D. Spooner, J. V. Quarles, J. W. Babcock and Emil Baensch as delegates at large, and their alternates at large, to this convention from the state of Wisconsin WAS THE REGULAR CONVENTION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN WISCONSIN, and that the delegates elected by it are the regular elected delegates at large from the state of Wisconsin to the republican convention, and, as such, are entitled to seats in this convention.

FINANCES OF THE CITY.

The report of the committee on finance has doubtless been read with interest by the taxpayers of the city. The council made a good showing last year, so far as saving money is concerned, and the budget for the coming year is not extravagant.

The public schools are of course the largest single item of expense, and with the increase in population comes the demand for better equipment and more teachers. Forty thousand dollars is not an unreasonable amount for the support of schools and the taxpayers will have no reason to complain if the request is granted. It would be short-sighted policy to hamper this department for lack of funds.

Fire protection interests every property owner, and while the department should not be encouraged in extravagance, neither should it be crippled by lack of necessary equipment. The work done during the past year is a credit to the department and no city in the state is better served.

The bridges and highways cannot be neglected and liberal demands on the general fund will be necessary to keep them in repair.

The installment of the sewerage system will come as a burden to property owners on the streets selected for the system, but it adds not only to the value of property but to the wealth of the city as well. Janesville is many years behind the times on this much needed utility, and no mistake will be made in pushing the work to completion.

The lack of order and the spirit of lawlessness, which is on the increase, is sufficient argument to suggest that the city needs more ample police protection. The force is good, but too small. The headquarters should be open with a man on call at all hours of the day and night. When this is done there will be no cause for complaint.

If Mr. Carnegie had shipped Janesville it might have been just as well for the town. But we have the $20,000 lot, and the $10,000 building and in time a $5,000 appropriation will be needed for annual expenses. This is something of a luxury, but without a credit to the city, it is better to support a good library well, than to half support a poor one.

Janesville is one of the poorest lighted cities in the west. In spite of the fact that it makes a splendid appearance as you approach it from the outside. There are hundreds of dark corners within a mile of the business section. They have been dark and will continue to be so as long as the city depends entirely upon electricity for street service.

What the city needs is a combination service and with two companies in the field there is no reason why it should not have it. One hundred are lights in the business section, and twice as many more up to date gas lights in the residence district would be ample, and the service would be much improved without much additional expense.

Thirty-five hundred dollars lighted the city for years with a population of 10,000, and $9,000 more ought to light it brilliantly today.

The council will doubtless consider the lighting question with other matters at the proper time and endeavor to give the people the best possible service for the money.

OUR EXPANSION.

Some interesting data regarding the present productions of the area included in the Louisiana Purchase are given in a publication just issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics, entitled "Territorial and Commercial Expansion of the United States." The information it summarized as follows:

Area, Population and Production.
 The land area of the Louisiana purchase exceeds that of the original thirteen states, being 875,025 square miles against a land area of 820,944 square miles in the original thirteen states. The states and territories which have been created in whole or in part from its area number fourteen, and their population in 1900 was 14,708,616, against a population of 100,000 in the territory at the time of its purchase. Their total area is nearly one-third that of the entire Union, and their population about one-fifth that of the entire United States. They produced in 1890, 161,000,000 bushels of wheat, and in 1903, 374,000,000 bushels, at a value in 1903 of $235,000,000, their total wheat production being nearly 60 per cent. of that of the entire United States.

They purchased 602,000,000 bushels of corn in 1890 and 973,894,000 bushels in 1903, with a value in 1903 of $552,375,000, their total corn crop forming 40 per cent. in 1890 and in 1903 over 43 per cent. of the total corn crop of the United States. Or oats they produced in 1903, 331,000,000 bushels, or 42 per cent. of the total product of the country, with a valuation of $93,000,000. Their production of barley in 1903 was valued at over $25,000,000, and of rye at over $3,000,000; while their production of Irish potatoes in 1903 was over $34,000,000; of hay, $117,000,000, and of cotton (1899), $50,000,000. The total value of the agricultural products of the States formed from the Louisiana purchase, including in that category simply wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, hay, and potatoes, was in 1890 given as $626,000,000, and in 1903 it had increased to $866,330,000. The wool product of these states amounted in 1891 to 61,871,357 pounds, and in 1903 to 89,853,500 pounds, or 30 per cent. of the total wool product of the United States, with an estimated value of about $16,000,000, or more than the cost of the entire area. The value of the farm animals in these states in 1890 was $759,596,000, and on January 1, 1904, the value was $1,119,512,000. Add to these easily measured farm products the estimated value of the wool, the sugar, the dairy and poultry products, and the proportion of the live stock annually turned in to provisions, and it may be safely estimated that the agricultural products of a single year amount to one hundred times the original cost of the area; or, in other words, that its cost is repaid by 1 per cent. of the agricultural productions of each recurring year.

The product of the mines is also of very great value. The coal produced in this area in 1902 amounted to 30,000,000 tons, against 14,000,000 tons in 1890; the iron ore to 15,859,000 tons in 1902, against 1,269,000 tons in 1890; the silver product of 1902 to $27,837,576 in coinage value, against $14,799,398 in 1890, and gold $39,841,500 in 1902, against $10,650,000 in 1890.

The prosperity shown by these figures is further evidenced by the banking institutions of the states formed from this territory. Their capital stock amounted in 1903 to over $103,000,000, against about $8,000,000 in 1890; their circulation to $56,153,000, against $15,414,000 in 1890; their loans and discounts in 1903 to $502,412,000, against $269,016,000 in 1890, and their total resources in 1903 to $1,713,809,000 against $746,903,000 in 1890, while a still more gratifying evidence of the prosperity of this section is the fact that individual deposits in national banks in 1903 amounted to $171,220,000, against $216,609,000 in 1890, an increase of more than $254,000,000 in individual deposits during the period.

A study of educational conditions shows equally rapid and gratifying development. The pupils enrolled in the public schools in the states in question in 1890 numbered 2,580,495, and in 1902, 3,426,593; the teachers employed numbered, in 1890, 89,558, and in 1902, 110,264, and the expenditure for public schools in 1890 was $30,284,752, and in 1902, $45,301,677. The number of pupils in attendance at high schools in 1902 was 131,271, with 5,954 teachers; in attendance at normal schools, 14,033 students, with 580 teachers, and at higher educational institutions, 45,892 students and 4,446 teachers. The total figures of the number of teachers and attendance of scholars for schools and educational institutions in the fourteen states formed from the Louisiana purchase show: Teachers, in 1890, 95,365; in 1902, 121,253; attendance, in 1890, 2,670,511; in 1902, 3,617,699.

The number of newspapers and periodicals published in this area in 1890 was 4,759, and in 1903 the number was 5,741; the number of post-offices in 1890 was 13,374, and in 1903 it was 16,437; the miles of railway in operation in 1890 numbered 51,823, and in 1902 there were 62,403 miles being operated, or nearly 21 per cent. of the total railway mileage in the country.

The power of this vast area with its agricultural and mineral wealth to sustain a population much greater than that which it now supports is suggested by a comparison of its area with the area and population of the prosperous countries of Europe. The total area is 875,025 square miles and is slightly less than that of the United Kingdom, Netherlands, Belgium, Germany, France, Spain, Italy, and Switzerland, whose total area is 885,978 square miles, with a present population of 202,363,573, as against a population at the last census of 14,708,616 in the territory under consideration, whose agricultural and mineral possibilities fully equal those of the European states named.

Wisconsin is classed as a doubtful state by astute politicians and perhaps they are right, but election day will bring out a lot of republicans just the same.

"Pitchfork" Tillman attended the St. Louis convention and has now gone home to tell his constituents what a lot of fine fellows the democrats really are.

It is not so many years ago that a massacre occurred on the very grounds where popular cities will rise on the Rosebud.

Janesville had a good Fourth of July parade and now it is to have a fine "Pike." Why go to St. Louis to see the wonders?

The Chicago Chronicle will be the pitiless and bitterest opponent to Parker of any paper in Chicago from now on.

Wisconsin may have another Tom Johnson campaign. La Follette is to use an automobile for campaigning purposes.

Parker has already received a call from the bosses who have announced to him what he is to do and say.

Chicago politicians have sort of turned away from Harrison looking for other Gods named Hopkins.

There is another meat strike on. People are either troubled with coal, ice or meat all the year round.

What to do with Bryan, Pettigrew, Weaver and lot more of that ilk is bothering the democratic leaders.

This land rush for the Rosebud lands is going to leave a lot of men stranded on barren soil up there.

Parker has not yet broken silence. Bryan has. He considers Parker a good nominee.

Circus men make hay while the sun shines, just the same as farmers do.

Minnesota has a little internal political fight on in the republican ranks.

Bryan has decided he will stump Wisconsin in the interests of democracy.

Oyster Bay and Esopus are the two spots on the globe most watched now.

PRESS COMMENT.

Madison, Journal: Indications are for another blizzard in the fall despite the indifferent nature of the weather. The farmer folk are consequently in good spirits.

Marquette Eagle-Star: Carrie Nation is going abroad for an extensive tour. We trust her itinerary will include the scene of Miss Stone's interesting adventure.

Milwaukee Sentinel: If the meat handlers' strike continues the possession of a pound of fresh meat will soon be an evidence of wealth beyond the dream of avarice.

Superior Telegram: La Crosse has another argument in favor of its claim of being the second city in the state—it has 160 saloons, while Superior has less than 140.

Lake Mills Leader: A remarkable religious revival closed Monday night in Baraboo, which, under the leadership of Evangelist Milford H. Lyon, resulted in the conversion of 500 people, many of them business men of the city.

Chicago Chronicle: Special by wireless telephone: Yes, I have seen the story of the German cat that hatched a brood of chickens. It was a deep-laid scheme of the cat's to win the confidence of the chickens and get a lot of easy chicken dinners later on. The ancient Egyptians and I are the only people who ever appreciated the cat intellect.—Tom Setonson.

Law Proves Boomerang.

Some years ago a law was passed in England requiring imported goods to be marked "Made in France," "Made in Germany," etc. As many of these goods are of excellent quality, it has been found that the law actually benefits the foreign makers, and an effort is accordingly being made to have it changed so that goods from the continent shall have merely a label marking them as "Imported."

WISCONSIN HAS MANY FLOWERS

Health and Beauty of the Wild Blossoms of This State Surpass Many Others.

At the summer meeting of the Wisconsin State Horticultural society Miss Eva Loope spoke as follows on the wild flowers of Wisconsin:

When Dame Nature distributed her flowers she gave to the Badger state a goodly portion. Something she gave to every locality, while upon the state as a whole she bestowed a variety of wealth and beauty unsurpassed anywhere.

The pleasure of a walk in her woods or fields is enhanced by a hundredfold by the knowledge of the flowers which we meet at every turn. Their names alone serve as a clue to their history, giving us that sense of companionship with our surroundings which is so necessary to the full enjoyment of outdoor life. But it is no easy matter to learn their names, for we find the very people who have always lived among flowers are often ignorant of even their common names, and frequently increase our confusion by naming them incorrectly.

Those who love nature can never be dull, provided that love be expressed by an intelligent interest rather than by a purely sentimental rapture. From the day in which the first spots appear on the lowlands, and the spathe of the unattractive skunk cabbage is seen forcing its way upward until late in May, when the meadows are one great flower garden and the glint of the bright blossoms is to be seen in the woods, spring has its peculiar delights for him who is interested in flowers.

The First Flowers

One of the first flowers we find in our northern woods in early spring pushing its way to the light through a mass of dead leaves is the trailing arbutus, whose small pink, waxy blossoms and delicious fragrance are among the earliest prophecies of perfume laden summer. Appearing as they do, so early, they win from us the gladdest recognition of the year. Then comes the blue or purple hepatica, or liverwort, wrapped in its fuzzy furs as if to protect its stems and nodding buds from the cold.

The anemone next appears, with its delicately tinted blossoms. The greenish yellow bellwort, hanging like a pale from the roof of a mouth, modestly hides behind the leaf of its stout stalk. The blue spring daisy, or robin's plantain, with its yellow eyes and purple fringe, and the yellow and blue forget-me-nots, are the most beautiful of our wild flowers to meet. By the rule of three all the trilliums, as the name implies, regulate their affairs. The wild geranium, or crane's bill, and yellow star grass now appear in our meadows. Further on we find the shooting star, or American cowslip, with its white, yellow tipped cone.

Among the rich woods in the early spring we find the blood root and mandrake, with their immaculate blossoms; then the violet, that has established itself in the hearts of the people from the arctic regions to the Gulf as no sweet scented, showy hothouse flower has ever done. Royal in color as well as in lavish profusion, it blossoms everywhere, in woods, meadows, waysides, and marshes. Now comes the wood daffodil and adder tongue and the wild columbine, dancing in its red and yellow petals to the rhythm of the breeze. The philox, with its bright, purplish pink blossoms, blooms in profusion. As if to offer opportunities of consolation to the confused novice, the Solomon seal and the so-called false species, quite as honest a plant, usually grow near each other. The flowers of the false Solomon seal are white and grow pretty starchy clusters at the tip of the stem, while those of the true Solomon seal depend in clusters from the axils of the leaves.

On the edge of the marsh ground, borne on tall, erect leafy spikes, the great lobelia rears its purple shoots, and growing in the grass further along may be found the water arum, or marsh calla. At a glance one knows this beautiful denizen of the northern bogs and ditches to be a poor relation of the stately calla or its greenhouses. But it is in the heart of the swamp that the real treasures are to be discovered. If it be early summer the purplish red side saddle flower, of the pitcher plant grows in lavish profusion. Here we find one of our earliest orchids, the mossy flower, or yellow lady slipper, with its fragrant solitary blossom. On the uplands the Indian's pipe or ghost flower rears its waxy spectral stalk, and the blushing stars and marguerites live in neighborly communion. In late summer the wild cornelops, which, I think, is a newcomer in this section of the state, covers the landscape with its branching stalks, which suggest the golden candlesticks of sacred story. It is most prolific on the edge of the swamps, and no more attractive picture can be seen than a tamarack swamp with a border of the orange colored blossoms of the cornelops surrounding it.

BAD RUNAWAY ON FRANKLIN ST.

A Team Driven by John Kennedy Made a Wicked Run Down "That Street This Morning."

This morning between 10 and 11 o'clock a team of horses belonging to John Kennedy and driven by him were going down South Franklin street when the pole star broke, letting the pole drop to the ground and the team started to run with the pole dragging on the ground. When in the vicinity of Rock street Mr. Kennedy jumped from the buggy and escaped without serious injuries. The team ran down the street and broke loose from the buggy near Galena street and kept on running until they were finally captured near Western avenue. Luckily no other vehicles were in its path or they would have been completely demolished.

GOLF TEAM CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

THE HEDGES AND BY-WAYS WERE SEARCHED THIS AFTERNOON

OUTNUMBERED BY ROCKFORD

Fifty-Three Ladies and Gentlemen Came This A. M.—Mrs. Wheat Won Putting Contest—Dance Tonight

Bright and early this morning Rockford golfers began to arrive, some aboard their touring cars but the majority over the interurban line. The special car arriving just before ten o'clock brought the great majority to the city. They were met at the station by several busses and private vehicles and quickly whirled away to the Simmslippi links where a cordial welcome awaited them at the hands of the reception committee. The men set out to make their preliminary investigations of the grounds and the ladies were soon absorbed in a putting contest for a handsome silver hat-pin which had been put up as a trophy. The prize was won by Mrs. Wheat of Rockford.

Fifty-three Came
Fifty-three visitors sat down to the repast which had been spread for them by the ladies of the club assisted by the steward. The gathering was a merry one. Before the anecdotes of the links and golf lore everything else had to give way. Dinner finished, the real work of the day began. The players from Rockford outnumbered the Jansville talent on hand and hurry calls for volunteers had to be sent to the city. As the men turned their eyes to the hills the ladies composed themselves for an afternoon at cards on the broad veranda.

They Paired Off

The Rockford players in the order which they started out with the Jansville team members were as follows: Earl Kelly, Keeler, C. Gorman, J. Deal, Ed. Putnam, C. Hemmings, B. R. Treat, W. Kell, Dr. Fringer, T. Priddle, Ed. MacGregor, Stone, Church, T. Burpee, B. Starr, E. Nelson, W. Hintz, B. Stewart, F. Reck, A. Haines, J. Stanley Brown, Ingersoll, O. Ruge, O. Wheat, E. Spaulding, H. Williams, Dr. Helm, W. Fitch, R. Hinchliff, F. Schlick, Wheeler, Claudeman, and Wood.

The Jansville players paired off with the Rockford men in the following order: A. Schaller, L. Brownell, Brewer, McGillem, Aelterberg, Sutherland, MacLean, Valentine, Carter, J. Baker, E. Baker, Baumann, Pfeiffer, Bostwick, Tallman, King, Ed. Schaller, C. Schaller, W. Lane, T. Morse, Chas. Gage, A. Harrison, P. Myers, F. Jackson, R. Haggart, H. H. Bliss, C. L. Pfeiffer, Dr. Farnsworth, and Ed. Hodge. Telephones are ringing and frantic efforts are being made to secure more Jansville golfers as we go to press. Five Rockford players are still unsupplied with victims.

PLENTY OF MEAT IN LOCAL MARKET

Bower City Meat Dealers Say That the Chicago Strike Will Not Affect Their Supply.

Jansville meat consumers will not be affected by the strike of the Chicago butchers. This is the opinion of several of the local meat dealers.

"No; the Chicago strike will not raise the price of meat here," said Otto Krontz, of the firm of Krontz Bros., this morning. "We buy our cattle and hogs in the local market and are not dependent upon the Chicago dealers. We have established prices for meats and do not allow fluctuations to affect these prices. I do not look for the strike to influence local markets, unless it should continue a great while."

"Most of the Jansville dealers buy stock at home," said Alderman W. A. Murray, "though a few buy from Chicago. How the strike will affect them I cannot say, but it will not affect us. We have our own cattle and hogs, enough to supply the trade for some time, and there will be no change in the prices resulting from the strike. The meat men who have been buying from the Chicago packers in the city are now doing all their own killing, consequently if prices are advanced by the packers it will not affect the butchers of the city, but will affect the grocery stores who handle meat and depend entirely upon the Chicago markets for supplies in this line."

PRESS COMMENT.

El Paso Herald: It is certainly a colossal joke on both Texas and the world at large if Togo has really been maintaining the Port Arthur blockade lately with faked war ships; merchant vessels painted grim and gray and iron-clad and armed with savage quaker guns, while his real maritime behemoths went home to rest. But that really seems to be what the clever heathen has been doing.

Wisconsin Farmer: Years ago, when the potato bug put in its appearance, the remedy advocated was not poison as now, but consisted of tar water, which is a good remedy and one that can be applied without danger. It not only kills and drives the bugs away but kills any fungus that may be present on the vines. Take five gallons of water to fifty gallons of tar, let stand twenty-four hours and dip off the water for use.

Monroe Sentinel: It is asserted, on good authority, that the B. L. Socialists are already beginning to whisper over the anticipated adverse decision of the state supreme court, in regard to their right to the official republican state ticket's position on the ballot this fall. Again and again their specious howls against the stacking of the deck, coercion, undue influence, corruption of the judiciary by the stalwarts, et cetera. When a man like Assistant Attorney General Frank J. Tucker, who is an ardent La Follette man, and who has hitherto been given the credit of having a fair share of common sense, asserts that "I do not think it looks well for Justice Winslow, of the supreme court, to go fishing with Senator Quarles, as I notice he is now doing," and more to that effect, it looks to the referee as though the half breed bunch was getting grosser, and a knock-out was imminent.

Milton Journal: "Milton is being incorporated for the express purpose of putting in a waterworks system which will cost from $50,000 to $75,000." This statement is absurd. It shows only an attempt of somebody to defeat incorporation. A Journal reporter has talked with the men in charge of the incorporation movement and cannot find a man in favor of such a proposition. No good business man would consider the matter like waterworks but as Milton has no way to even get rid of its present surface water it would be ridiculous to talk waterworks. It is argued that voters in the village who pay no taxes will promptly vote for waterworks without regard to the advisability. But if such were the case only a small number of such voters can be found.

Peoples of the World. Latest statistics place the population of the world at 1,539,000,000, and it is estimated that it's a case of being about half and half monothelists and polytheists.

BIG DRAWING CARD AT YOST'S SUNDAY

A large crowd of Jansville people will accompany the Imperial band to Yost's park on the coming Sunday to see the baseball game between the home team and the "New Drexels" of Rockford. Every indication points to a fast and exciting match. Ladies will be admitted free to this game and the band concert and the precautions taken to preserve order in the park, no more pleasing Sunday outing could be wished. The cars leave every half hour.

Chicago Inter Ocean: Mayor Samuel M. Jones, of Toledo, who died on Tuesday, was pre-eminently a man of sentiment. He seemed at times to have the artificiality and cunning of the mere demagogue, but in the end he convinced the people of the city in which he lived of his honesty and of his good intentions. It was a difficult task to convince the people of the average American city with the ordinary amount of selfishness and cynicism that a public official meant to do unto others as he would have others do unto him. But Mayor Jones did that in Toledo. If he had used the golden rule as a mere catch phrase to secure political influence or to win the support of a particular class, he could not have maintained himself before a critical public. He was almost the only independent politician who ever succeeded in the face of opposition by both parties. His success, year after year, was based not on political shrewdness, nor on special qualifications for office, but on a simple trust in the sentimental aspirations of the average man. He was in business and in politics a sentimentalist. He was not like the ordinary socialist, a mere theorist, but an idealist interested in attaining his ideals. After he had convinced the people of Toledo of his simplicity and honesty they bore with his eccentricities and put their trust in him.

Advice to Ambitious Pitchers

"Iron Man" McGinnity Tells What to Do and What Not to Do—Be Temperate and Study the Game—Timely Gossip.

By "Iron Man" (Joe) McGinnity, Noted Pitcher of the New York Nationals.

If you wish to become an able pitcher don't drink. Put that in italics and think of it every minute. When you want to drink—if it's only beer—eat an apple. Don't go with men who are likely to ask you to drink. An ordinary pitcher can last several seasons if he leaves drink alone. That is the most important rule in pitching baseball. You can't make that too strong.

The second lesson consists of work. A man must work or he will not amount to anything. I get out here on played for individual glory. The whole team must work together as one complex but perfectly organized and easy running machine. Every man must know his play at every minute of the game.

After these three rules the work is entirely up to my ability to pitch a ball. It might take a page to tell how to pitch ball. Warner says I throw a decided up curve when I throw underhand. I don't know about that. It may be, but it is the best ball I throw. I cannot throw many of them, as it is hard on the arm. It is likely to wrench it any time.

In the pitching of a ball much depends on the man who is at the bat. A successful pitcher must know the batter. He must know what kind of a ball he is likely to hit and what kind he is likely to miss. He must familiarize himself with every batter in the league. Sometimes he cannot remember these things, and he must depend upon his catcher. That is where the study comes in.

Pitcher Jack Phillip of the Pittsburgh Nationals is now rounding into his best form. The Pittsburghers are in need of effective pitchers because of Leever's slump in physical condition and the inability of the other members of the pitching staff—except Phillip—to win a majority of their games.

Phillip is now looked on as the "life saver" of the National league

CUTS DOWN LOSSES IN WHEAT

Railway Official Gives New Figures on Flood Damages in Kansas.

Topoka, Kan., July 15.—Contrary to the judgment of elevator and commission men, J. R. Koontz, general freight agent of the Santa Fe railway, estimates that the wheat crop of Kansas this year will be 70,000,000 bushels. This is 20,000,000 bushels more than the estimate of the dealers, but Mr. Koontz says his judgment is based on personal inspection of the fields and interviews with farmers and others since the floods. He says he will stand on his figures. Koontz admits that in the flooded districts the loss is fully 50 per cent, but he says the losses elsewhere are not so great.

HARVEST IS STOPPED BY RAIN

Farmers Begin Early Work and Crop Prospect Is Good.

Fairbury, Ill., July 15.—Farmers around here are beginning to harvest their early oats, but heavy rains the past few days have kept them out of the fields. Crops are unusually good this year, owing to the favorable weather of the last two weeks. An average of forty bushels' yield to the acre is looked for. Corn any everywhere else growing in the country looks good in this section.

CHICAGO FISH IS CONFISCATED

Game Warden at Joliet Claims Description Was Defective.

Joliet, Ill., July 15.—State Fish Warden Sites of Peoria appeared in Joliet and confiscated several hundred pounds of fish sent by Chicago packers to local firms. The warden found that the law requiring a description of the fish on each package had not been complied with. The fish were given to local hospitals and orphan asylums.

WADE BROTHERS EXECUTED

Electrocuted in Ohio Penitentiary for Murder of Kate Sullivan.

Columbus, O., July 15.—Ben and Al Wade were electrocuted just after midnight Thursday in the state penitentiary here. The brothers murdered Kate Sullivan in 1900. The execution was not marked by the tortures that have signalized the recent executions, and the chair worked admirably. The brothers killed their victim on the night of April 14, 1900, on a dairy farm five miles west of Toledo. Their object was robbery, and for more than two years they escaped arrest, suspicion finally being directed to them because of a quarrel.

LIVES 30 DAYS WITHOUT FOOD

New Jersey Man Declares He Is Benefited by the Long Fast.

Plainfield, N. J., July 15.—Edward R. Taylor, a city missionary, has just ended a thirty days' fast and appears none the worse for his ordeal. When he started to abstain from solid food he tipped the scales at 220 pounds and to-day he weighs but twenty-five pounds less. During the time of his abstinence from solid nourishment Mr. Taylor took walks for exercise and part of the time attended to his duties as missionary. He declares that his general health is much better.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, July 15, 1864.—Serious Accident.—A workman by the name of Tennyson, employed in the shop of Messrs. Morse & Hanson, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon. While reaching over a circular saw in motion, his hand came in contact with it, lacerating two fingers so badly that they had to be amputated, and otherwise injuring his hand severely. Drs. Coryell and Burbanks dressed the wounds.

Lively Work.—As a farmer was driving leisurely along Milwaukee street near Palmer's store about noon today, his horse suddenly put both hind feet through the dash board, and making a frantic plunge forward broke one of the shafts and clearing himself from the wagon started on a keen run down the street. The last we saw of him he was going towards Milton as though all the Maryland raiders were after him.

Remember the Meeting Tonight.—Let our citizens bear in mind the meeting at Lippin's hall tonight, in the interests of the sanitary commission. The speaker, Col. Hawkins, of East Tennessee, will no doubt give an interesting address in which he will relate what he has seen of the workings of the rebellion in East Tennessee and also detail his experience as an active soldier and a leader of the regiment of the loyal Tennesseans. We hope the hall will be crowded.

Lost All by a Flood.—A letter received in this city by a lady from J. P. Sears, of Denver City, states that in a recent heavy flood at that place her husband and herself lost everything they had, save only the clothes they had on. She imparts the further information that the Indians are committing atrocious murders only a few miles out from the city, and creating great excitement thereabouts. Mr. and Mrs. Sears will be recollections as having lived about two miles below this city on the Rock River road.

Religious Notice.—The services in the court room, Sabbath morning, will commence at 11 o'clock p. m. instead of half past ten as heretofore.

KING WAITS ON DYING PAUPER

British Ruler Sits in Poorhouse by the Deathbed of Stable Boy.

London, July 15.—Leaving the gay crowd at the Newmarket race course, King Edward for more than an hour sat at the bedside of a dying stable boy. Anxious by his prolonged absence, members of his party found the sovereign in a poorhouse near the track. The dying boy, propped up with pillows, was playing the national anthem on a mandolin, the king standing, uncovered, near him. The lad, when the music was finished, sank back. "I can die happy now," he said.

SLOCUM DEATH LIST IS LARGE

Only 235 of Nearly 1,400 on Board Escaped Uninjured.

New York, July 15.—The total dead in the destruction of the excursion steamer General Slocum June 15 is given at 558 in the final report by the police department. Only 897 of the dead were identified. Sixty-two were reported missing and sixty-one unidentified, while 180 were injured and only 235 out of the nearly 1,400 on the steamer escaped uninjured. Assuming that the unidentified dead are among the missing, all except one person has been thus accounted for.

Fettered to another man by bonds that she could not throw off, marry Oht, Mrs. Garner proposed a double suicide Monday night and the two drank poison together. Death followed for the woman, but physicians saved Oht's life. He tried again and was more successful.

PITCHER JOE MCGINNITY, THE FAMOUS "IRON MAN" OF THE NEW YORK NATIONALS.

the field every morning we are in town. I am here at 9 o'clock, and I work steadily until the game is called at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. I pitch to Catchers Warner and Howerman. We study out new balls. We try batters without letting them know what we are doing. We frame up elaborate but accurate systems of signals. In this manner I am able to tell the position of every man on the field by the sign the catcher gives me.

The third lesson is in team work. Every man on the team—not the pitch-champions, and should be clear with an accident the plight of Fred Clark's three time champions would be unfortunate indeed.

Phillip, he is known, is one of the steepest pitchers "in the business." If the Pirates again succeed in winning the pennant he will receive a major share of the credit.

George Tebeau, president of the Louisville club of the American association, held a long conference recently with Manager Kelley of the Cincinnati Nationals.

Tebeau is looking for pitching material, and he tried to persuade Kelley to let him have one of his seven twirlers, but he failed to land, as Kelley has no intention of reducing his pitching staff at this time, if at all this season.

When a reduction is made Tebeau will be given first chance to get the man let out, as that is his agreement with President Hermann of the Cincinnati club.

Manager Kelley, however, insists that it is not at all likely that he will reduce his staff, and under no circumstances until much later in the season. "We would have been in a fine fix if we had reduced our pitching staff when the season opened," said he. "Many of our men have been sick, and we need every one we have. Besides, we have not had a chance to get a line on some of our men, and I would not think of cutting down until we know just where we stand, and even then we will be in no hurry about it, because if all our pitchers are good we might as well keep them as get rid of them."

"Yes, Tebeau will get first crack at such players as we care to let go, but there will be no pitchers let out for some time to come."

There have been other incidents where pitchers and fielders have

A SOLDIER OF COMMERCE

By JOHN ROE GORDON

Copyright, 1904, by F. R. Tombs

On again they went, slacking the pace but little. They reached Sileon in two days. The caravan was four days in making the distance.

Sileon was agape with astonishment when it saw the camels of the caravan racing into the place with the two pretty women and two monks. It was eager to know the particulars. The streets were filled with Russian sailors, and Russian guns frowned from a gunboat in the harbor.

Harvey and Orskoff alighted, while the Russians and people of Sileon gathered round.

"Where is Lieutenant Nevsky?" asked Orskoff, removing his red hat and robe and showing himself in his regular uniform.

"Lieutenant Nevsky has been sent back to Salatin," was the reply of a sailor. "Admiral Platoff is here with the gunboat, waiting for you."

"Does he understand?"

"I suppose so. We knew you were coming here."

"Signal the gunboat."

While the boat was coming Harvey arranged with a bazaar merchant to have the camels returned to the owner, who, he said, would give a reward for their recovery.

The gunboat showed signs of activity, and the small boat soon took them to it. On the deck stood a grizzled old officer wearing the uniform of an admiral. He did not greet them, but looked with some curiosity at a girl in the uniform of the inspector of prisons, a grimy American clad as a lama, a naval officer with a monk's hood in his hand and Koura, the girl who had twice been stolen from Tills.

"I inform you that you are my prisoners," he said curtly.

"You place us under arrest!" exclaimed Orskoff.

"I do. You for deserting your gunboat and entering forbidden territory and releasing captured robbers, the American as being an escaped prisoner."

"How many of the Amer's soldiers do you see, holy one?"

er, Alma Jurneff for releasing said prisoner. Koura Bartelkiss is not under arrest. You shall go at once to Tills for trial."

In the office of the governor's palace at Tills sat a man of powerful build wearing a uniform that betokened exalted rank. He was General Urflof, governor general of the province, a man of blood and iron and one in whom the czar placed so much confidence that it was said that a command from Urflof was a command from the czar himself.

Before him stood three prisoners. He listened attentively while they told the story of their adventures. It is not necessary to repeat the testimony that was given before the governor general. In the main it was Harvey Irons' cool voice that rehearsed the adventures that culminated in the arrests by Admiral Platoff.

When the story was ended, General Urflof said:

"With his knowledge of the matter, having been told by Lieutenant Nevsky what he knew, Admiral Platoff was justified in making the arrests and bringing the prisoners here. As a matter of fact, it was fortunate for you that he did so. Conditions have changed in Tills. I came from Stavropol solely to investigate the fact that an American, of whom I had never heard, was in a Russian prison. I supposed it was one of those blatant nihilists who claim American citizenship, but after a thorough investigation I learned that the man's only crime was loving a Russian beauty. I heard all about the Bartelkiss case and had my own officers investigate it, with the result that Hafiz Effendi and a Bokharan named Mikh are now in the prison from which the American escaped. There is no charge against the American."

"This brings us to the case of Alma Jurneff, who really did commit a serious offense in the eyes of Russian law. But I have weighed this matter well. I have taken into consideration her youth and the fact that the man she released was guilty of no crime, but was imprisoned by intrigue and false swearing. Therefore I have decided that there is no charge against Alma Jurneff."

"As to Captain Orskoff, it appears from the testimony of Lieutenant Nevsky that he had arrested the American and four robbers, whom he should have brought at once to Tills, instead of which he gave them their liberty and went upon Bokharan territory, which is forbidden. This, too, I have studied well. My decision is that Captain Orskoff performed his duties. He is here to see that the law against selling women is not disregarded. It is his duty to follow and rescue any taken away. He has done this in the case of Koura Bartelkiss."

"I am glad that the news of the escape came to me, for justice would not have been done had the affair been left in the hands of local officials. I brought charges of conspiracy against Colonel Jurneff and threatened him and his brother, the general, with Siberia. He became enraged and died of apoplexy. Prince Delnikoff has been disgraced and removed from the army for permitting a woman to wear his uniform and impersonate him."

"I sincerely thank you for your just decisions," said Harvey. "Somewhere on the Volga I have some valuable windmills, and I want to find them and take them to the fair at Nijni Novgorod to sell. Alma and I shall be married as soon as we can find some one to perform the ceremony, and I shall take her with me."

"Koura and I shall be married at the same time you are," said Captain Orskoff to Harvey.

Harvey's Novgorod trip was a grand success.

THE END.

Extending the Analogy.

"I tell you," contended the boarder with the bristling hair, "the man who says we ought to live to be a hundred years old is right. Look at the horse. It takes a horse four years to get its growth, and it lives to be twenty. It takes a man twenty years to get his growth, and by the same ratio he ought to live to be a hundred. There are lots of things we can learn from analogy."

"I don't know but you are right," responded the immemorial boarder. "For instance, there is the flea. It jumps thirteen hundred times its own length. There is no reason, therefore, why a man six feet high should not be able to jump—let us see—7,800 feet, or a mile and a half, at one leap. Yes; we can learn a great many curious things from analogy."

But here the conversation drifted to other topics.—Youth's Companion.

An Indignant Scotchman.

A sheep farmer in the Cheviot hills of Scotland had been told that it was useful to have a barometer in the house, for it would tell him when the weather would be good or bad. He was accordingly persuaded to procure a mercantile instrument with a large round dial, which he hung up in his lobby and duly consulted every day without much edification. At last there came a spell of rainy weather, while the barometer marked "set fair."

The rain continued to fall heavily and still the hand on the dial made no sign of truth. At last he took the instrument from its nail and marched with it to the bottom of the garden, where a burn, swollen with the drainage of the higher slopes, was rushing along, brown and muddy. He thrust the glass into the water, exclaiming: "Will you believe your ain een noo, then?"

The Sovereign Was Safe.

A carpenter in a Scotch village, to oblige the local undertaker, who was ill, went to screw down a coffin lid. The dead man's wife gave him full and particular instructions respecting the task. "Weel," she asked when he returned, "how did ye get on?"

"Fine," was the reply. "But there was hant a sovereign in the corp's hand. What was that for?"

"Oh," said the lady, "that's a custom some folks hae. He's supposed to gie the ferryman who rows him o'er the river o' death."

"Do ye tell me that? It's a queer world. But I'm sayin', missis!"

"Yes?"

"I'm feared you chap will hae to awlin."

Fortified Monasteries.

Russia has a number of monasteries in Palestine. A recent traveler was surprised to find them strongly fortified and having loop holes for guns.

After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair, growing as ever, even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Peripatetic Liars.

The number of men who suddenly disappear from home and then weeks or months afterward send word that they have traveled far, while their minds were blank, appear to be increasing. In many cases it is probably an excuse to keep from the knowledge of friends and relatives just what they have been doing.—Philadelphia Press.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

What Greedy Got

Greedy was a strange creature. In the first place he was the only one of thirteen eggs that old Mrs. Speckle was able to hatch.

To say he was ugly would be but poorly to express it.

His head was like a duck, for he was at first a duck's egg. But his tail was wonderfully like Mrs. Speckle's. His feet were like paddles on a steamboat, and his appetite was enormous. His poor mother did so much scratching in the garden to satisfy his greed that they shut her up in a coop.

"See what you have brought me to by your greediness," said his poor mother.

POOR BILL GAVE UP THE CHASE.

But he only grinned and gobbled all the corn placed before his mother's coop.

"You needn't scold," he cried. "You brought me here with my appetite and I must eat."

"But please be careful," she answered anxiously. "One day you eat puris green and nearly die, another you eat yourself with pebbles, another—"

But just then along came little Bill. He had a pleased expression on his face, for in his hand he carried a brand new watch, given him for his birthday.

In a moment Greedy saw it.

"It looks like crackers," he squawked. "I shall get it if I can."

Bill put the watch proudly in his belt, and just as he did so spied Mrs. Speckle in the coop. Leaning over to scratch her topknot, the watch dropped out. In an instant Greedy was at it. He opened his great fat beak, took it in and started on a run. Bill saw him and gave chase.

"Drop it! Drop it! You horrid thing!" he cried.

"Not if I know it," squawked Greedy, paddling along.

Poor Bill gave up the chase and sat down to cry, while Greedy in the quiet seclusion of the meadow grass began to eat the watch. It was one of the "dollar" type.

"Not much give to it," he granted. But just then he met his doom, as his mother had said he would, for the watch spring suddenly broke loose and went off with a terrible bang. While—rrr!

Greedy's head went with it. His paddle feet gave a few kicks, his tail a few feeble wags, and he was dead.

His greed had killed him.—Atlanta Constitution.

OFFICIALS CONDEMN THE ACT

Conductor Is Also Blamed for Permitting the Train to Be Taken to Another Track, the Proceeding Being Against All Rules of Railroad.

Chicago, July 15.—President A. J. Davidson and other officials of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad have declared that Engineer F. E. Hoxey and Conductor Cooper of the freight into which the excursion train bearing the unhappy Sunday school picnicers crashed, are responsible for the terrible calamity of the collision and the awful loss of life that followed.

These men, with brakeman Wright, the fireman, and the flagman, are now at Dolton, Ill., near the scene of the wreck, awaiting the call of the coroner.

The coroner's jury was called by Coroner Trager Thursday morning. After being organized it set the hearing of the evidence until July 21, and then visited the scene of the wreck to go over the ground. Officials of the road announced that the men held responsible would remain at Dolton until called to testify before the coroner's jury, stating that they had already been furnished their transportation to Chicago for that purpose.

Officials Visit Wreck. The officials of the road made a trip to Glenwood. In the party were President Davidson, Vice-President R. H. Hammond, General Superintendent W. J. Jackson, Assistant Road Master E. Buchanan, and Division Superintendent J. F. Russ, whose jurisdiction extends directly over the portion of the road where the wreck occurred.

The officials viewed the wrecked cars and examined the wreckage carefully, and then called before them the employees of the stations near Glenwood and the crews of the two trains which collided. It was found that Hoxey's engine, No. 144, drawing fifty coal and freight cars, was proceeding north on the track north of Chicago Heights, Wednesday evening, when it was discovered that, by reason of a knuckle or drawbar having dropped from its position, fifteen of the rear cars had been left behind on the track.

Freight Engineer to Blame. There is a heavy grade on this part of the line, and the engineer could not go back with the heavy load. So he decided to go on to Thornton, five miles distant, to push the cars he then carried over to the south-bound track, and then return to get the fifteen lost cars on the north-bound track.

Near the switch at Thornton there is a siding. If when Hoxey had his train on the south-bound track, he had proceeded farther north, and then backed his cars onto this siding, the wreck would have been averted. But, instead, he went south of the siding to Glenwood.

When his engine reached the depot, the station agent ran out to him and told him that on account of the fifteen cars he had left on the other track the special excursion train had been ordered to take the track he was then on from Chicago Heights, and advised him to hurry his cars to the siding.

Resents Advice From Agent. J. W. Smoot is the station agent. He had no right to give orders to Hoxey, and Hoxey did not feel inclined to obey him. It was only when Smoot showed him a copy of the telegram which had just flashed along the wire that Hoxey realized the awful truth.

The excursion train was bearing down upon him. He should never have left the other track. He endeavored to shift the heavy freight to the siding, but it was too late. Scarcely had Smoot handed him the telegram when the terrific crash came. In the rear of his train was havoc and death—and it was too late.

In going from one track to the other he had violated one of the strictest rules of the railroad world. He had done what an embryo would have learned to avoid in his first lesson. The other track was his as long as he had a single car on it, but, off that track, he was inviting the terrible consequences that came.

Violate Iron-Bound Rules. "It was one of the worst pieces of gross negligence I have ever known or heard of," said President Davidson after he had returned to Chicago.

"Hoxey and his conductor are equally responsible for what occurred, as each had equal responsibility as to what should be done with the train, and if Cooper had done his duty he would never have allowed Hoxey to go from one track to another without orders.

"As in every other line of industry, there is a standard code for running trains. This is used by over 90 per cent of the railroads in the United States. Every man who has been in the service for only a few months knows most of its important provisions. Changing from track to track without orders is one of the first lessons an engineer learns not to do. Hoxey and Cooper are guilty of violating one of the most iron-bound rules of our company.

Versatile Woman. Few head waiters know as many languages as a woman named Scheidter, who died at Salzburg, aged 73. As a girl of twelve she had taken a position as maid with a wealthy family, and had in the course of years visited all parts of the world, gradually acquired the faculty of speaking, besides her native German, six languages—English, French, Italian, Arabic, modern Greek and Turkish.

Coal Slack for Pigs. A small heap of coal slack should be placed in every pigsty for the inhabitants to feed upon, says a trade journal.

Doubles Its Population.

Few persons have any idea of the extraordinary manner in which the population of Europe has increased during the last century. According to statisticians, this population has more than doubled itself from 1880 to 1900. To this increase the Latin nations of the west and southwest contributed the least, and the greatest growth was in the east, where the people have not yet become thoroughly saturated with the ideas of modern civilization.

Capt. Marryat's Opinion.

At a comparatively recent period Capt. Marryat of the British navy, the celebrated nautical author, wrote in one of his novels: "What a mine of wealth must lie entangled among its rocks or remain suspended in the unfathomable gulf, where the compressed fluid is equal in gravity to that which it encircled!"

Recover Parts of Old Wreck.

Parts of the wreck of the Sirius, the first steam vessel to cross the Atlantic, which was lost off Ballycotton, County Cork, in 1817, have just been recovered.
